

K-love has served me in so many ways in the last 3 years when I discovered them on the radio on my way to work. I was at a very low point in my life. My marriage was on the rocks, my job was very discouraging, and just getting through the day was an accomplishment for me. I have two kids that needed me, yet there would be days I didn't feel like going on. Just being able to listen to K-Love on my 30-45 minute drive to work, and then back home helped me be more prepared to face whatever challenge I had too, whether it was an unrelenting boss or a husband that just didn't care anymore. Though now, (today, October 28, 2004) I am divorced, and have started a new job. K-Love got me through the hurdles of the last year, and believe me anybody else would have more than likely just given up and ended their lives, because, looking back at the last year, only the Lord through K-Love helped me get through what I have been through.

The effect of life for all of us in the K-Love community, without out station would really make the community less of a place that all of us want to be. K-Love has brought about many changes that are unseen and unspoken, yet being a Christian for as long as I have I can tell there is a difference and a change, as everyone is looking for "Something Better" in their lives, many are finding Christ instead of drugs.

I believe that without K-Love the world will definately keep going the way of the "devil." More drug usage, porno, and I could probably go on forever with all the wrong that is a part of the world today, and not much is being done. With K-Love, we are reminded that there is a God, and he is there waiting for us to reach out to him, and cling on. God is our only life line. I know I would have a rough time trying to get through tht day without K-love on my radio dial.
